

Police use GPS to arrest parolee in Laguna Hills

By Erika I. Ritchie
The Orange County Register

LAGUNA HILLS — A parolee — accused of assaulting his girlfriend — was tracked by GPS through two cities and arrested at a Laguna Hills El Torito, officials said.

According to police reports, Ronnie Ray Osorio, 22, of Santa Ana was being tracked by his parole officer on an ankle bracelet Tuesday after going to his girlfriend's home in Lake Forest on Monday night. There he is suspected of assaulting her and threatening to kill her and her family said Lt. Steve Doan, chief of police services for Laguna Hills.

"He returned to her house again on Tuesday and she refused to let him in," Doan said.

Osorio reportedly put his hand through a window and then fled to Laguna Hills. Deputies found Osorio at 1 p.m. inside the restroom of El Torito in the 24300 block of Avenida de la Carlota.

According to police reports, Osorio didn't comply with deputies' demands and moved toward them in a threatening manner. Deputies used a Taser to control him. He was taken to Saddleback Medical Center for treatment of a cut on his hand and then booked into Orange County Jail.

Osorio was arrested on suspicion of resisting arrest and for violating his parole.

He is being held without bail. He will appear for his arraignment Thursday.

(All contents copyright The Orange County Register ©2010.)

